

We are pleased to offer a new workshop by Karey Thorne in March 2012

Healing blockages in generational lineage

This class will look at clearing patterns and beliefs that you carry from your family lineage. Often we carry patterns we do not want but it seems we are required to do so by something we do not understand.

In looking at our families, we get a clue as to our own karma both positive and negative. By clearing these patterns, we also offer this clearing to our ancestors. This can be a powerful reset to our lives and free up unconscious places that limit us without our realizing it.

We will use different modalities to clear what no longer serves us so that we can pursue a more authentic expression in the world. This will involve small and large group work.

This truly is a joyful, loving and easy way to start cleaning out humanity's unresolved collective injuries so it helps us, our ancestors, and the planet. This is so much easier than having to live out the patterns that we would like freedom from.
